Postal Carrier Honored by Decatur Fire

Decatur Postal Carrier Robert Clark was honored by Fire Chief Toni Washington and Fire Marshal Ninetta Violante for his quick thinking and heroic actions. Robert was delivering mail along his route when he noticed a porch was on fire — the sun shining through a glass filled with water had sparked the flames. Robert immediately grabbed a garden hose and extinguished the fire, preventing much more damage to the property. Clark, who has long aspired to be a firefighter, embraced the opportunity to put his passion into action. He represents a true public service hero.

Community Input Continues on Decatur's Housing Diversity Efforts

This month offers more opportunities for the community to share thoughts on Decatur's efforts to re-allow duplexes, triplexes, and quads in city neighborhoods. Such diversification of housing types can go a long way towards broadening the income diversity of residents — a key goal in the 2020 Strategic Plan. And because these structures must conform to the size limitations of single-family homes, they can be integrated into the existing architectural fabric.

There are various ways to plug in, learn more, and share your feedback/input:

- Participate online or by phone – submit comments or questions thru July 31.
- Host a Small group discussion – contact Decatur's Affordable Housing Fellow Kristin Allin (kristin.allin@decaturga.com) to arrange a session, learn about the zoning proposals, and ask questions.
- Attend the forum – issues and questions will be addressed August 17 in an online forum.
- Call the Missing Middle Housing Hotline – provide comments by calling 470-868-5114. Further details and specifics can be found at decaturga.com/affordablehousing.

Noise Ordinance Update – Public Input Session

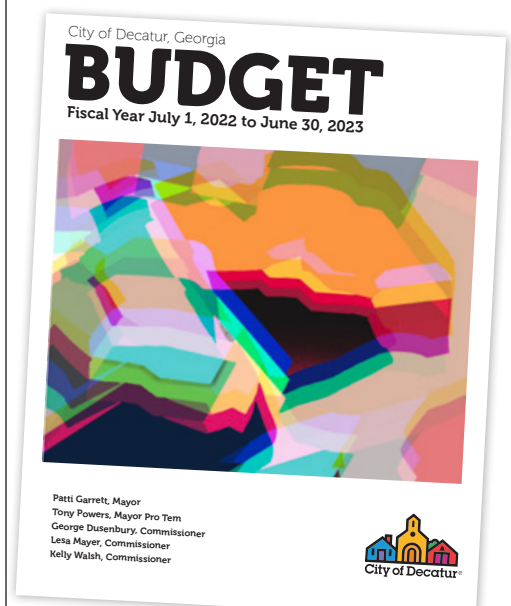

Thursday, June 23, 4-8 p.m., Decatur Recreation Center, 231 Sycamore St., Community members are invited to a public input session to share thoughts and feedback on the City's noise ordinance. In January, a steering committee comprised of city staff and residents was established to review and provide recommendations to update the City's noise ordinance (library.municode.com/ga/decatur, and then search for “noise” and select “Article III” in the results). Through best practices research, stakeholder surveys, and community outreach, the committee is working to address noise sources such as lawn equipment, generators, construction activities, and music and events. Following community engagement, the city staff and steering committee will make recommendations to the city commission. For more information, contact Ash Kumar ash.kumar@decaturga.com.

City Budget Process Reminder

There are several opportunities this month to get involved in the City's budget process:

- June 6: extended work session and public hearing on proposed FY 2022-2023 budget and revised 2021-2022 budget and 2022 millage rates.
- June 8: extended work session on proposed FY 2022-2023 budget and revised 2021-2022 budget (alternate date).
- June 13: public hearing on proposed FY 2022-2023 budget and revised 2021-2022 budget (if needed).
- June 21: public hearing and scheduled adoption of proposed FY 2022-2023 budget and revised 2021-2022 budget and 2022 millage rates.

All public hearings are held in-person as well as via Zoom. Access information, meeting times, and copies of the FY 2022-2023 budget and revised 2021-2022 budget are published on the city's website at decaturga.com/budget. Hard copies are available at Decatur City Hall (509 N. McDonough St.) and at the Decatur Library (215 Sycamore St.). Contact City Clerk and Budget Director Meredith Roark, 404-370-4102, or meredith.roark@decaturga.com, if you have questions or need more information.

HIDDEN TREASURES

For some residents, the Decatur Cemetery is a collection of gravestones that help mark the timeline of life in Decatur. But for many who stroll or walk or jog through the 58 acres, there are other dimensions to enjoy. Did you know that the Decatur Cemetery has a hidden waterfall? Come and explore Decatur's largest downtown greenspace and see what hidden treasures you can find. If you want some tips on places to discover, contact friendsofdecaturcemetery@gmail.com.

WALK & ROLL SUPERSTARS

When Tammy and Steve McDaniel retired a few years ago, walkability was a top priority for finding the best place for their next adventure. As they researched locations, they noted that Decatur is a nationally-recognized Walk Friendly Community. This designation made their search and their decision much easier. As the couple reflects on their first year in Decatur, walking remains a key part of their lives, often using the time to ponder or resolve important matters. When planning vacations, the couple selects destinations that are walkable so they can exercise while exploring the local area. Another benefit of living in Decatur is that Steve and Tammy rarely rely on their car for transportation. Good for them and great for the environment.

DPI Youth Action Team Recognized by City Commissioners

Members of the Decatur Prevention Initiative (DPI) Youth Action Team (YAT) accepted a proclamation from Mayor Patti Garrett on April 18, making April "Alcohol Awareness Month." YAT members presented the commissioners with samples of their public service announcements and information bags. The group works tirelessly to offer prevention programming that addresses underage substance misuse and promotes mental wellness. The YAT believes that youth who engage in conversations with their parents and learn about the dangers of alcohol and drug misuse are less likely to use and abuse substances. To learn more about this group and how to join them, reach out to decaturprevention@gmail.com.

Alair Homes Decatur Wins National Awards

After winning three regional awards earlier this year, Alair Decatur has been awarded two National CotY awards for its work modernizing a 100+-year-old home in Midtown Atlanta, near Piedmont Park. The winning projects were awarded in the categories for Residential Interior $250,001 to $500,000 and Residential Exterior $50,000 to $100,000.

Built in 1910, the historic home lacked modern amenities such as a primary suite, modern kitchen, upgraded bathrooms and a guest room. Alair Decatur preserved many of the historic architectural features while creating functional, livable spaces. The project team retained the original door hardware, front door, staircase, three fireplaces and layout (with some modifications), while using new materials to update the bathrooms and kitchens seamlessly, and add a new laundry room and guest suite. On the exterior, the team integrated a historically-appropriate, second-story front porch to enhance curb appeal and add much-needed space for the family to enjoy.

The National CotY Awards recognize the highest level of excellence for the remodeling industry. An independent panel of experts selected the projects for their outstanding design and craftsmanship. For more information, visit alairhomes.com/decatgur.

Woodlands Garden Volunteers Install Native Fern Garden

When Decatur resident and devoted Woodlands Garden volunteer Andy Plankenhorn noticed a need to freshen up the new ADA-accessible sidewalk from the parking area to the garden, he stepped up with an idea. Stemming from his love of cultivating ferns in his home garden and building upon Woodlands' mission to focus on preservation and education, Andy offered to help fund a native fern garden along the shaded network of paths in the garden. With Garden Manager Julia Bryant's planting design and engaged volunteers to help execute the project, Andy collaborated with groups from Bank of America, Decatur High School, EDENS, Master Gardeners, Tyler Technologies, Women's Council of Realtors-DeKalb, and Woodlands volunteers to remove invasives, prepare the beds, draft a planting palette, and transport more than 600 native ferns to be planted in late April. It takes a village of volunteers and friends like Andy to help Woodlands Garden thrive. The garden is free for all, so come and enjoy Woodlands every day of the year during daylight. Visit woodlandsgarden.org for more information or to volunteer.

Building A Vibrant Community for the Betterment of the World

Over the weekend of April 30 and May 1, nearly 40 individuals of all ages and backgrounds came together at Legacy Park for a conference convened by the Baha'is of Decatur and inspired by Baha'u'llah's universal call to "work for the betterment of the world and live together in concord and harmony." The conference was part of a wave of 10,000 conferences sweeping across the globe with the aim of gathering well-wishers of society to explore the creation of a unified vision, learn from each other, and reflect on how they can work together for the good of humanity.

The gathering offered a welcoming and spiritual atmosphere, integrating art and discussion, and enabling participants to form bonds of friendship with the shared purpose of community service. Many young people attended offering insight and experience from Baha'i community-building activities aimed at the education of children and youth.

Conference organizers are grateful to the City of Decatur for its leadership and support of the event, noting that the welcoming and uplifting atmosphere of Legacy Park and the warmth of its staff contributed greatly to the success of the conference. DHS Senior Shines a Light on Gardening Program

Decatur High School Senior Mara Jones has a long history with gardening that began as a toddler working alongside her mom Tamara Jones, coordinator for the Wylde Center's Hawk Hollow Garden. Mara reflects on the once-thriving DHS garden and the community of student volunteers who played a formative role in building the garden as well as stoking her passion for tending it.

Started in 2008 by a DHS student, the garden has endured some challenges over the years. In 2015, it was relocated adjacent to the Career Academy to accommodate the expanding school and parking area, however, during construction debris was scattered on the new area making the beds unsafe for use. Another challenge came when the garden was sprayed with herbicide, rendering it fallow once again.

In the spring of 2020, working through COVID mitigations, Mara restarted the garden with help from friends and family. Over the past two years, the garden has continued to flourish, adding a native plants garden in the fall of 2021 where a variety of asters and columbine grow. Located on a shaded hill below the upper parking lot off Howard Ave., the native plants thrive in the local climate and soil conditions, they also help retain water and are vital for the survival of insects.

In the Career Academy sun garden, flowers weave around the herb section, which is filled with lavender, rosemary, and basil. Food plants, including potatoes, garlic, and greens, line the other side of the garden where mammoth sunflowers tower in the summer.

Mara notes that the garden does more than connect students across grades, often Decatur residents pass by and stop to talk with students about their home gardens. Others reminisce about the previous garden and collect produce to cook at home. Currently, Mara is working with students from lower grades to pass along gardening advice that will help the next generation cultivate gardens that will thrive for years to come.

DEF Awards 19 Scholarships to College-bound Seniors

Each year, Decatur Education Foundation (DEF) awards nearly $130,000 in scholarships to 19 hard-working Decatur High School seniors. Congratulations to the Class of 2022 DEF scholarship recipients who were announced on May 17 at a celebration held at Agnes Scott College.

This year DEF added the McNally Family Scholarship, established by long-time Decatur residents Conor McNally and Li Liu who have had two students attend City Schools of Decatur.

Thanks to the generous donors in our community and congratulations to the DHS Class of 2022. To learn more about these students and the awards they received, visit decatureducationfoundation.org/2022scholarships.
